THE NEW ORLEANS LYNCHINGS DIS-CUSSED IN THE SENATE.

Seaston Jones's Pension Bill Passed Baron Favn Received at the White House - Minister Beals Returns from Persia on Leave of Absence to Marry Mr. Blaine's Daughter - $18,000 to Introduce Reindeer Into Alaska.

WASHINGTON, May 23.-The Senate discussed all day, without taking final acsponse to the suggestion of the President's annual message, to punish in United States courts offences committed against the treaty rights of aliens. There was, incidentally, a mewhat warm passage of words between Mr. Gray and Mr. Morgan as to whether or not the State of Louisiana had made any reply to the Government of Italy in regard to the New Orleans lynchings. Mr. Gray asserted that the State had made reply; Mr. Morgan asserted that it had not, and that it had no right to make reply; and each said he would appeal to the record to confirm his assertion.

Mr. Vost of Missouri Introduced a resolution discharging the Committee on Finance from the a asideration of the House Free Wool bill. and directing them to report the bill back to the Senate. Mr. Vest asked that this resolution be laid on the table for the present, and it

At the request of Mr. Butler of South Carolina, the Senate bill appropriating $50,000 for an equestrian statue of Gen. Francis Marion in Columbia, South Carolina, was passed.

Bills were also passed appropriating $15,000 for the introduction of reindeer into Alaska; referring the claim of the Citizens' Bank of New Orleans to the Court of Claims; providing for a commission to enquire into the distribution of mails in large cities by pneumatic tutes; appropriating $15,000 for a painting of Alcabam Lincoln, and appropriating $20,000 for the erection of a statue of the late Robert Dale Owen of Indiana, to be placed in the grounds of the Smithsonian Institution, Mr. Owen having introduced in Congress in 1845 the original till for the establishment of the Emithsonian Institution. for the introduction of reindeer into Alaska:

This being District day in the House, the Sundry Civil bill was inid aside and the following bills were passed: To give the Comlowing bills were passed: To give the Com-missioners of the District full power to regu-late the equipment and operation of the street railroad lines; to provide for the permanent extension of streets outside of the city; for the protection of livery stable keepers; to provide for semi-annual statements by foreign corporations doing cusiness in the District of Columbia; probabiliting the delivery and sale of fee on Sunday; to regolate the practice of dentistry, and authorizing the Gien Echo Railroad Company to cross the Washington aquedict.

Mr. Butler (Dem., Ia.) endeavored to have passed a private pension bill for Gen. George W. Jones, by unantmous consent, but Mr. Watson (Alliance, Ga.) objected. Mr. Watson then spring d his resolution requesting the Commitson (Alliance, Ga.) objected. Mr. Watson then offered his resolution requesting the Committee on Ways and Means to report his Sub-Treasury bill, and the House adopted the resolution. Mr. Butler then made another and a successful effort to pass the Jones bill, providing for a pension of $20 per month. The claimant is an ex-Senator, 100 years old, and now lives in Dubuque, Ia. He was a drummer boy in the war of 1812.

Mr. Bryan (Dem., Meb.) called up the Gen. Sherman statue bill and asked for its passage, but Mr. Kilgore of Texas objected.

Sir Julian Pauncefote, the British Minister. gave a dinner at the Legation this evening to Leopoid. Hereditary Prince of Isenberg and Birstein, and suite, who are making a tour of the United States. Court Marshal: Dr. Kraffert and Sir Haverith, Court Councillors, and two valets, he came to this country about three months ago to study its character and institutions. In New York he visited many industrial establishments, and on his trip through the West, which he made incognite as Leonold Von Isen, he made our agriculture, cattle raising, and railroad systems his special study, from which he expects to derive great benefits in the management of his large estates in Gormany. He is about to return home, but before departing he came to Washington to be officially presented to Presi-Leopold. Hereditary Prince of Isonberg and his large estates in Germany. He is about to return home, but before departing he came to Washington to be officially presented to Presi-dent Harrison and Vice-President Morton.

Ex-Gov. J. E. Campbell of Ohio was in Washington yesterday, en route home from New York. While here he was called upon by a large number of old friends and held several conversations of a political nature. He was looking unusually well and seemed in the best of spirits. Gov. Campbell said he did not see Mr. Cleveland during his stay in New York, and had not met him since they made speeches in Rhode Island. He thought a majority of the deligation from Ohio would be for the exthe delegation from Ohio would be for the ex-freshient at Chicago, and that Mr. Cleveland-would go into the Convention with the strong-est backing. It there was a brook, there could be no telling how many candidates would spring up. Each State would have some in-vorite son to present for the honor. "How about Senator Gorman?" the reporter asked.

"Gorman is a very formidable candidate and a good man," replied Gov. Campbell, emphatically.

Baron Fava, the Italian Minister, was re-Baron Fava, the Italian Minister, was received in the Blue Room of the White House this morning by President Harrison. He was accompanied by the attachés of the Italian Legation. Secretary Blaine accompanied the Baron to the Executive Mansion and made the introductions. There were no particular formalities and no set speeches. Baron Fava took occasion, however, to inform the President that his sovereign, the King of Italy, the Italian Government, and the Italian people alike were greatly pleased and satisfied by the settlement of the recent difficulties in a manner so honorable to both Italy and the United States. After presenting Baron Fava. Secretary Blaine had an extended conference with the President.

The efforts of the people who have been urging Congress to problibit the transmission through the mails of publications containing what is known as police news have been fruitless, for the bill introduced for this purpose by Senator Dolph was adversely reported to the Senator boday from the Committee on Post Offices and Post Roads. The bill provides for an amendment to the levised Statutes so as to exclude from the mails any publication devoted to "criminal news," or police reports, or accounts of criminal deeds, or pictures and stories of immoral deeds, list, or crimo.

Mr. Beale, United States Minister to Persia. Mr. Beale, United States Minister to Persia, is in this city, having arrived yesterday. Ho is on a leave of absence. It is said that his presence here at this time is for the purpose of marrying Miss llattic Blaine, the youngest daughter of the Secretary of State. His engagement to Miss Blaine has been standing for over a year. Mr. Beale is the grandson of the late Commodore Truxton, U.S. N. and the son of Gen. Edward Beale of California and Washington. He is a bandsome and clever young man. It is said that the wedding may take place before the departure of Seciety people for the seashore and mountains.

As a result of the trouble between Secretary Blaine and Frederick A. Bancrott, late libraries of the State Department, the President to-day notified the Senate of the withdrawal of Mr. Bancrott's nomination to be toused of the United States at Brunswick, Germany.

The War Department officials announce with much pride the completion at the Watertown statement of the top carriage or slide for the new harbette carriage for the eight-ined tooch-loading steel rifle for the Pacific coast defences. It is a bronze casting and weighs a little more than the combined weight of seven of our Napoleon guns, made during the late war, and is a very difficult casting of irregular shape. It is said to be the largest casting of the kind ever attempted in the army workshops.

Representative De Armond of Missouri in-troduced a bill in the House to-day author-izing the Socretary of the Treasury to assess annually an income tax upon all Incomes of persons and corporations in excess of $1,000, sufficient to meet the payment of pensions.

Emmet Wells of Syracuse is here to secure accommodations for the G. A. R. posts of that city expected to attend the G. A. R. encampment. Mr. Wells was the bearer of a petition signed by 2,000 members of the Vetorans League, which embraces fourteen G. A. R. posts in the Syracuse district, urging Congressman Belden to stand for a renomination to Congress. Mr. Beiden will consider the petition and announce his conclusion at an early day.

Miss Knox Engaged to Dr. R. B. Kimba The engagement is formally announced of Miss Caroline T. Knox, eldest daughter of the late John Jay Knox, to Dr. Ruell B. Kimbali of West Forty-seventh street. Dr. Rimbali is a graduate of Frinceton and a member of the University Club. The marriage will probably not take place until next fall.

THE METHODIST CONFERENCE. Remarks on Southern Outrages-Women at OMARA, Neb., May 23.-Bishop Warren presided to-day over the General Conference. The Committee on Episcopacy filed a report recommending that an enlaconal residence in Europe be added to the present list. The Committee on Revisals recommended that the many petitions to abolish the six months' probationary term be denied. A minority report recommends that the time be reduced to three months. The Committee on Temporal Economy recommended that the Conference demand an adequate number of chaplains to be appointed in the army; that they be regularly commissloned officers and not mere contract men; that three Bishops be delegated to select suitable candidates for appointment in the army; that the Sunday nearest to July 4 be known in the Church as Army and Navy Day, and that services on that day portain to the welfare of

The Committee on Judiciary reported that they had decided that no other interpretation of the words "lay delegates" than that now had can be made-namely, that "lay delegates" means male delegates and not female. These reports were laid aside for the present in order to take up pending business.

Dr. Smith of New York at once moved a suspension of the rules to take from the table his resolution to adjourn on Thursday at 1 P. M. It was so ordered. On putting to vote the mo tion to adjourn on Thursday it was carried by a afternoon sessions as well, and it was so ordered amid much applause. Many delegates wish to go West, and this is the reason for early adjournment.

Homer Eaton was elected Trensurer of the Sunday School Union Society and the Episcopal Board, with Lewis Curtis as his assistant. Paniel Denham was appointed Treasurer of the Tract Society.

The salaries of Dr. Warren, editor of the Northwestern, and A. E. Albert of the Sondwest Admeate were continued for three months, until they can secure appointments.

James E. Broggs of Wisconsin offered a resolution denouncing capital punishment and recommending solitary confinement, but it was laid on the table.

A resolution commending W. P. Stowe, exbook agent at New York, and extending his salary to the next annual Conference, was passed.

Dr. Jennikar fraternal delegate of the Africance o salary to the next annual Conference, was passed.

Dr. Jennifer, fraternal delegate of the African M. E. Church, was received and delivered an address. In referring to Southern outrages, he said:

"We have set apart May 31 as a day of prayer to God Almighty that He in His mercy may forgive this great crime of the South and brings the nation's attention to the horrible state of affairs. We rely on prayer. We do not go to dynamite but our knees for redress."

state of affairs. We rely on prayer. We do not go to dynamite but our knees for redress."

Dr. Potts of Michigan offered a resolution empowering the bishops to submit to the annual conferences a proposition to admit women as lay delegates.

Dr. Moore of Ohio offered as a substitute the following resolution:

"Resoured, That the General Conference holds that in all matters connected with the election of lay delegates the word laymen ought to be understood, and must of right be understood, to include all the members of the Church who are not members or Presidents of the annual conference."

Dr. Buckley was on his feet in an instant and secured first blood by missing the point of order that this matter is now before the Judiciary Committee, and should be referred to that committee. The Chair so held amid applause.

Dr. Kynett moved that this matter he taken.

Plause.
Dr. Kynett moved that this matter be taken up as the order immediately after the report of the Committee on Judiciary, and it was ordered. Sanford Hunt and Earl Cranston were cleptdered.

Sanford Hunt and Earl Cranston were elected Treasurer and Assistant Treasurer of the Missionary Society.

The upper Iowa Conference offered a resolution on the Jewish question, expressing the profound sympathy of the Conference for the Russian Jews, who are being persecuted for not being members of the Greek Church, and hoping that the time may come when in the realms of the Car man can worehip according to the dictates of his own headt.

Dr. Johnson of Sweden asked the Conference not to pass the resolution as it would go to the Russian Government. As the M. E. Church had recently established a little mission there it would hut the Church and not benefit the Jews. On this statement the Iowa Conference withdrew its resolution.

A resolution was offered by upper Iowa congratulating the Mayor of Sioux City on his refusal of $10,000 offered by the saloon men of that city to aid the flood sufferers, provided the saloons can be opened. John Field of Philadelphia objected on the ground that the Conference did not know this to be a fact, and the matter was referred. Adjourned.

Assault Case in Bad Shape.

William Cleary, a patrolman of the Tremont police, was complaining witness in the General Sessions yester ay against John Whiting, indicted for assault in the second degree. The alleged assault was committed on Cleary, and it was Cleary's complaint and testimony that secured the indictment. Whiting had a scar on the top of his head, the result of his encounter with the policeman.

Cleary's story was that on Sept. 1 last, as he was going to the station, a young man told him there was a fight in progress in a vacant lot at Third avenue and 188th street. He lot at Third avenue and 188th street. He didn't find any light in the lot, so he went into the saloon adjoining just to see if there was any evidence there. Whiting came into the saloon and demanded. "Are you as good a man to-day as you were the other day when you drove me off the bridge?"

Cleary answered him, and immediately Whiting banged him alongside the head with his fist. Cleary said he arrested the young man at once and took him out a side door to take him to the station. At the door Whiting caught up a picket and beat his carbor over the head.

take him to the station. At the door Whiting any glubt up a picket and beat his captor over the head.

Cleary said he believed that Whiting had got the young man to tell him there was a fight in the vacant lot to get a chance to lang him over the head with the picket. He swore he hadn't been drinking. He admitted that Whiting's head was cavered with blood when he get him to the station, but he didn't know how it came to be so.

Policeman Jesser, who helped Cleary to get Whiting to the station, swore that Whiting resisted arrost and it was necessary to "subdue" him with a club.

Whiting swore that he entered the saloon merely to get a glass of beer. Cleary was at the bar in full uniform drinking, and ordered him to get out of the place, and then caught hold of him and punched him in the face and dragged him into the back ward, where Jesser came and began to club him.

Whiting's story was corroborated by William Fitzgerald, the saloon keeper. He had got as far in his story of the fight as the appearance of Jesser, when Judge Cowing stopped him.

"I think we had better not proceed any further with this case, Mr. Bedford," said the Judge to the assistant District Attorney. "I think we all understand this case perfectly."

"I think so, your Honor, an-wered Mr. Bedford." I abandon the prosecution," and the Judge advised the jury to render a verdict of acquittal. Cleary and Jesser left the court room together. Cleary looked crestfallen.

Pastor Kramer Resigns. The Rev. George R. Kramer, the pastor for wo and a half years of the Union Avenue Baptist Church in Greenpoint tendered his resignation on Friday last, to take effect on Aug. 1. When the question of the consolidation of the Union Avenue and the Noble Street Baptist churches came up a few months ago Mr. Kramer was in favor of the consolidation. A large proportion of the congregation supported his views, but for some reason not made public the consolidation was not effected. Mr. Stamer's action is said to be the outcome of a struggle between the younger element and the old members of the church. Formerly he was a Methodist minister in Delaware. He went to Brooklyn and took charge of the Independent Church of the litessed Hope in Cumberland street. There he breached against Jews. The Rev. S. Sparger, then of the State Street Synagogue, met him in argument on his own platform, and Mr. Kramer admitted that there might be some good men among the Jews. The Church of the Riessed Hope was not a financial success, and Mr. Kramer became a Baptist. Mr. Kramer was in favor of the consolidation.

Four cases of small-pox were discovered by Health Inspectors yesterday. William Hide man. 28 years old, was found in the big lodging house at the corner of Bleocker street and ing house at the corner of Bleecker street and South Fifth avenue. The lodging house is over the saloon formerly run by The Alien. It will be disinfected to-day. All the lodgers will have to be vaccinated.

Two cases were found at 71 Thompson street. Kate Alien, 25 years old, had almost recovered and was not removed. Sadie Parmino, 30 years old, the other Thompson street patient, was just beginning to show signs of the disease. The Thompson street house was thoroughly disinfected yesterday afternoom.

Annie Murray, 25 years old, of 354 West Twenty-fifth street was sent to North Brother Island with Hideman and Sadie Parmino.

MERCY AFTER TORTURE

MISS PIKE NOT HELD ON THE CHARGE

OF ATTEMPTING SUICIDE. Driven Into a Swoon by Justice Duffy's
Threat to Open a Letter to Her Mother
He Did Open It and Made It Public,
Although He Dismissed the Charge.

Wice Kate R. Dike the Treasury Department prewrite, who was found unconscious in the Astor House on Saturday, was taken yesterday morning to the Tombs Police Court from Bellevue Hospital. Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Stevens of Bayonne, Miss Pike's brother-in-law and sister, were with her. The party arrived at the Tombs shortly after 11 o'clock. Miss Pike and her relatives were taken into Justice Duffy's private room. Miss Pike wore a gray dress, and a heavy veil covered her The first thing Justice Duffy did was to ask her to raise her veil. She did so, and showed her close-cropped anburn hair and a frightened face.

"Don't be afraid, dear," spoke Mrs. Stevens, taking her sister by the hand. "Tell him your story."
Miss Pike closed her eyes and leaned her head against the wall.

"I cannot," she cried. "What has happened in the last ten days is a blank to me. My head aches dreadfully. Oh, I cannot remember a Turning to Mrs. Stevens, Justice Duffy said: "Madame, tell what you know about this affair." Mrs. Stevens said that her sister was omployed in Washington, and had obtained a vaployed in Washington, and had obtained a va-cation to visit her in Bayonne. For more than a year her sister's head had troubled her. On Thursday she left Bayonne to come to New York to consult a doctor. That day she had a bad headache. The next Mrs. Stevens heard of her sister was that she had been found un-conscious in the Astor House. "Is there a man in this case?" asked Jus-tice Duffy, sharply. "Not in the way you mean." spoke up Mrs. Stevens, looking straight at Justice Duffy. "My sister is a good woman."

"My sister is a good woman.

All this time Miss Pike leaned back in the sofa. Occasionally a faint mean came from her sofa. Occasionally a faint mean came from her lips, and when Justice Duffy put his question she shuddered.

she shuddered.

Taking up a letter, Justice Duffy looked at Miss Pike. He held the letter up so that she could see it. She leaned forward, and her eyes followed every mation of the Justice as he waved the unopened envelope.

"This letter you left addressed to your mother." he said to Miss Pike. "I am going to open it to see if you intended to commit swiede."

mother." he said to Miss Pike. "I am going to open it to see if you intended to commit suicide."

As he broke the seal Miss Pike shricked and fell forward in a faint out of her sister's arms. Mrs. Stevens took the girl's head in her iap and tried to revive her. Policeman Sheridan got a glass of water. He put it to her lips. In a few minutes she appeared to be herself again. Justice Duffy took the letter from the envelope, opened it, and began to read it. Miss Pike and her sister looked at him protestingly, but they said nothing against his opening and reading the letter. Mrs. Stevens seemed to think that he had no right to open the letter.

Justice Duffy did not lift his head until he had read every line of the letter. Tears came into Miss Pike's eyes, and by the time he finished reading she was sobbing.

"I wrote the letter," said Miss Pike, in answer to Justice Duffy's questions, "but I have not the faintest idea of what is in it. I was out of my head when I wrote it. I do not know what has happened. I never meant to take my life, sir, and whatever I said in the letter idid not mean."

Mrs. Stevens made a plea in behalf of her sister. She said that Miss Pike was accustomed to take laudanum to relieve the pains in her head, and that she must have been made unconscious in her room in the Astor House by taking an overdose.

"Oh, sir," she went on. "I am sure my sister did not mean to kill herself. She has everything to live for. Her dear mother and her brothers are waiting anxiously for her in Washington, where she has a good home. She was not responsible for anything she said in that letter. She is in her right mind now, and if you will discharge her I will take her to her mother in Washington to-day. Consider how you will ruin her future if you send her to prison.

mother in washington to-day. Consider how you will ruin her future if you send her to prison.

"Young woman." Justice Duffy said when Mrs. Stevens stopped talking. "this crime with which you are charged is a felony, the benalty for which is five years."

Sobs from Miss Pike interrupted him. She seemed to think that she was to go to prison.

"I believe," he continued, "that what you have said is true. For your sister's sake, as well as your own. I release you in her charge." "Oh, thank God!" exclaimed Mrs. Stevens, throwing her arms around her sister's neck and kissing her.

Mr. Stevens escorted the two women from the court. Mrs. Stevens and Miss Pike went to Washington in the afternoon.

The letter addressed to Miss Pike's mother, which Justice buffy opened and read as an evidence of a design to attempt suicide and subsequently allowed to be copied when the charge of attempted suicide was dismissed, was a rambling epistle indicating a troutled mind and also an intent to die. Miss Pike intimated in it that she was in despair because of the failure of James A. Hart of New Brighton to return her love. It was a letter meant for the girl's mother only. She had succeeded in destroying before her arrest a letter she had left addressed to Hart. Hart said yesterday.

"We were simply (riends, and, our relations day: We were simply friends, and our relations were nothing more than those of friends. We never were engaged to be married, as has been said."

OLD JACK CAME BACK

To Attend the Trial of the Men Who Were Accused of Burning Ilim Up.

PITTSBURGH, May 23.-On Feb. 1 the body of man was found in the ruins of the wholesale fruit store of the firm of Saitta & Fugassi, The store had been burned on the night of Dec. 19, 1891. The body was identified by witnesses as "Old Jack." an employee of the firm. The Coroner's jury on Feb. 15 found that the building had been set on fire by that the building had been set on fire by "Old Jack," who perished in the flames, and that P. A. Saitta, one of the firm, and John Marks, another employee, aided and abetted in the commission of the crime. They were included, and to day the case was called for trial. "Old Jack," whose burned remains were supposed to have been buried, very much alive and remarkably active, surprised the prosecution by waking into the court room.

Old Jack presented rather a worn-out look, as if he had gone through several fires. He said he had been sick, but he wouldn't talk alout the case until he goes on the stand, at which time he will explain where he has been. The case was continued until to-morrow owing to the absence of some important witnesses.

Burker's Trial for " Moonshining." The trial of ex-Alderman James Barker for moonshining" was resumed before Judge Benedict and a jury in the United States Circuit Court room of the Federal building yesterday. United States Gauger N. H. Batyesterday. United States Gauger N. H. Babcock testified that he tested fifty-four barrels of distilled spirits in Dean's warehouse belonging to Barker upon which no taxes had been paid, and Internal lievenue Agent Alfred H. Brooks swore that in 1887 he caught barker making "high wines," and confiscated his apparatus.
Barker himself testified that he was a vinegar manufacturer and couldn't make "high wines" with his apparatus. He declared that the fifty-four larrels of spirits in Dean's ware house didn't belong to him. The case will go on to-day.

Columbia's Thanks to the Mayor. The trustees of Columbia College, at a meeting held on May 2, adopted these resolutions; " liesolved. That the thanks of the trustees be extended to the Hon. Hugh J. Grant. Mayor of the city of New York, for the services renof the city of New York, for the services ren-dered by him in helping to secure the passage of the law prohibiting the opening of streets through the new site of Columbia College.

"Resolved, That this action on the part of the Mayor has been the more appreciated be-cause it involved acquiescence in a change of policy as to the development of the Morning-side plateau—a change which was assented to by the Mayor distinctly on the ground of the importance of Columbia College to the city of New York."

Medical Examiners for the Street Cleaning

Department. The Street Cleaning Department is about to appoint three medical examiners, whose duty it will be to pass upon the physical qualifica-tions of the applicants for appointment to the uniformed force. The civil service examina-tion for the medical examiners will be held at the rooms of the New York City Civil Service loard. In Cooper Union, on Thursday mor-ing, May 26, at 10 o'clock. The proper appli-cation blanks can be obtained there before-hand, and must be filled out and filed before the examination takes place.

In his charge to the Grand Jury Judge Ingraham referred to the large number of cases, principally misdemennors, which has accumulated in the District Attorney's office, and announced that it was for the disposition of these cases that the grand inquest had been called.

"The Legislature has made violations of the Excise law misdemennors," said he, "and the police have made many arrests. For many years these have been allowed to accumulate because of the limited number of courts for the trial of criminal cases, and the other Grand Jury has been all the time occupied with cases because of the limited number of courts for the trial of criminal cases, and the other Grand Jury has been all the time occupied with cases of a more serious character."

Judge Ingraham said that he knew the Grand Jurors were asked to make a serious secrifice to sit through the hot scasen considering these minor criminal cases, but that it is necessary that the law should not fall into disrepute by allowing criminals to imagine that they car, violate the law in any regard without fear of speedy punishment. The proper execution of the law and the safety of the community demand that accusations should be promptly pushed to trial.

District Attorney Mcoll, who was present and an interested listener, smiled faintly, perhaps recalling the daily scoring which his administration has received from Recorder Smyth, when Judge Ingraham delivered himself of the following admonstrate to the Grand Jury to be patient with the District Attorney:

It is proper I should say one word more, and that is in relation to the fact that many of these charges are years oil. Indicate the obtain the stituture is often extension to the fact that many of these charges are sent in the discharge of your duties. It have the witnesses with were present when the act was committed, and that fact will require you to exercise considerable patience in the discharge of your duties. But, even if anyhody is at fault, such an act as that will not said in the chimistration of pushice not produced it may be a hasterial irritation; a feeling that some one has not done his distributed continue the proceeding. But, even if anyhody is at fault, such an act as that will not said in the chimistration of pushice. It does but the public to have anyhody who has been guilty of a crime released without a trial, simply because it has been impossible the witnesses are not present. It does hurt the administration of justice. It does but the public to trial of criminal cases, and the other Grand Jury has been all the time occupied with cases him at another time, it may be necessary for you to adjourn a particular case.

After the charge the Grand Jurors retired to the room of Fart IV, of the Superior Court, where they will hold their sessions. The panel of trial jurors drawn for the extraordinary term was excused, the court adjourned, and the business of the April term, which had been interrupted, was resumed with the trial of M. J. O'Connell for manslaughter.

Last week the regular Grand Jury disposed of several hundred ancient cases, and yesterday it dismissed ninety-saven old excise complaints. Judge Fitzgerald, too, showed in Part I, of the General Sessions how easily a large number of the old cases could be disposed of without assistance from any extraordinary Oyer and Terminer. He had seventy-nine cases on his calendar. Twenty-nine were old excise cases, and twenty-five policy and gambling cases. They were all disposed of within an hour.

The Richmond Terminal Stockholders Mee Again-S:ill Another Committee,

The meeting of Richmond Terminal stockholders at the office of Work, Strong & Co. yesterday afternoon was well attended. The committee reported that a number of suggestions had been made and plans offered for their conwas read, and it was then decided that better progress would be made if a committee of fifteen should be appointed to continue the deliberations as to a way out of the difficulties of the situation. The Chairman was authorized to name the memlers of this committee.

The plan read at the meeting contemplated the formation of the Southern Railway Company under the charter now owned, which to operate all the properties in the system.

It is proposed to issue new preferred stock, It is proposed to issue new preferred stock, which is to be exchanged for present securities on the basis of 160 per cent, of new preferred stock for Richmond Terminal is, par for the 5s, and share for share of the present preferred. Of the East Tennesse, Virginia and Georgia stock now in the hands of the public it is proposed in this plan to offer 45 per cent, for the East Tennessee. Virginia and Georgia first preferred, 17 per cent, for the 2d preferred, and 6 per cent, for the common.

To make these exchanges will require the issue of $22,558,000 of the new preferred stock.

To provide for the floating debts of the Rich-

To make these exchanges will require the issue of $20,558,000 of the new preferred stock.

To provide for the floating debts of the Richmond and Danville, and East Tennessee, Virginia and Georgia c unpanies, the plan suggests the issue of a collateral trust note, or rond such as was sold in order to pay off the Union Pacific debt last summer. These notes are to run for two years at six per cent, interest, with the privilege of exchange at maturity for preferred sheek at 100, and are to be offered at 12½ that to the common and treferred stockhold rs, and to the holders of 5s and tis in the order named. Should any remain unsubserviced for, they are then to be offered to the public.

For kichmond Terminal common stock is to be given common and about $43,000,000 of preferred stock, with ne bonded indebtedness at the end of the two years.

The floating debt of the Richmond and Danville Company is stated at $5,500,000, and that of the East Tennessee, Virginia and Georgia at $2,500,000, and those behind the floating debt of the East Tennessee, Virginia and Georgia at $2,500,000, and those behind the floating debt of the East Tennessee, Virginia and Georgia at $2,500,000, and those behind the floating debt of the East Tennessee, Virginia and Georgia at $2,500,000.

S2.500,000.

It is proposed that each certificate of stock of the new company shall be stamped with an endorsement showing its ownership of and right to yote a proportionate amount of the stocks of the Georgia Central and East Tennesses, Virginia and Georgia Railway companies.

Sing Sing, May 23.-Justice Gibney this afternoon discharged Broker B. H. Tuthill and his lawyer, W. W. Foster, of New York, who were arrested on March 20 on a charge of trywere arrested on March 23 on a charge of trying to defraud a convict named Lane, in Sing Sing prison, out of some property in New York city in which he had a third interest. Lane's mother died leaving the property to her three children. Tuthill went to the heirs and represente that he could dispose of the property. He and Foster went to the prison and obtained Lane's signature to a esper which Lane said he thought was a power of attorney. It turned out, however, that the paper he signed was a quit claim deed. He told Warden Brown what he had done, and Brown caused the arrest of the two men. The case came up to-day. Justice Gibney discharged the prisoners, saying that there was not sufficient evidence to hold them. MARINE INTELLIGENCE.
